

Partnering for CGM Success:

Less Hassle for Your Office. Better Support for Your Patients.

Prescribing CGM therapy through a trusted durable medical equipment (DME) supplier makes your job easier & improves patient outcomes.

Continuous Glucose Monitors (CGMs) are transforming diabetes care – but access, training, & ongoing support can make or break patient success.

Prescribing through diabetes-focused DME suppliers ensures seamless access and expert support from day one - helping patients start therapy confidently while minimizing extra work for your office.

Ongoing DME supplier support keeps patients on track, & improves adherence – helping them stay compliant & achieve better health outcomes.

What You (& Your Patients) Gain with a DME Supplier:

Faster Therapy Starts.

DME suppliers handle education and training up front, helping patients begin therapy sooner, without having to come back to your office for additional education before they can begin.

Less Work for Your Team.

DME suppliers take care of patient support with periodic check-ins to answer questions & make sure the product is working for them. They also address coverage questions & handle insurance paperwork. Some also provide ongoing CGM therapy coaching.

Fewer Errors, Smoother Prescribing.

New e-prescribe tools and supplier-specific CGM forms help your office understand critical documentation requirements up front so that everything can be provided at the onset - reducing rework, clarification calls, and delays in your patient getting started on CGM therapy.

Better Access, Especially in Underserved Areas.

DME suppliers offer convenient home delivery, consistent stock, & seamless resupply, ensuring access while removing barriers for patients in rural areas or with limited mobility.

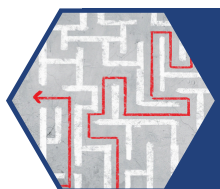

Specialized Expertise.

Unlike other fulfillment models, DME suppliers understand diabetes and CGM technology, offering advanced product knowledge, up-to-date training with professionals, & diabetes-specific support.

Trusted by Peers.

73% of physicians specializing in diabetes care prefer DMEs over other fulfillment channels because they deliver better patient support which results in increased adherence to therapy.

Coverage Experts & Patient Advocates.

DME suppliers understand coverage rules, managing prior authorizations, & navigating inappropriate plan denials so that your patients get access to the CGM therapy they need.

Refer with confidence. Choose a trusted DME supplier for your next CGM order.
